Dear potential participant,

Re: Teaching Professionalism in Clinical Placement Research Project

We are writing this letter to invite you to participate in a research study. This research study is being conducted to gain a better understanding of ways that professionalism is taught and assessed during clinical placements, and the challenges that are involved in developing professionalism in students. The ultimate purpose of this study is to identify ways to facilitate the development of professionalism in physical therapy students.

You are being asked to take part in this study because you are a member affiliated with the University of British Columbia who help provide the clinical education of physical therapy students. Up to 50 participants will participate in this study.

The study will involve participating in 15-minute survey.

Please click the following link if you are interested in participating in this study. For more information about the study, please email us at betsa.parsa@ubc.ca.
